OF THE

SCHOOL BOARD OF THE TOWN OF LYME,

FOR THE YEAR ENDING MARCH 1ST, 1887.

Sixteen different teachers have been employed the past year—fifteen females and one male. Number of terms, twenty-five, eleven of which were taught in summer, the same number in winter, and three fall terms.

One or more members of the School Board have made two visits in every school, each school session, and in several three or more have been made.

For convenience the old arrangement of districts is used in this report.

DISTRICT NO. 1.

The primary department, both summer and winter, was under the efficient management of Miss Alice G. Churchill, whose methods of instruction were good.

The advanced department was under the instruction of Mrs. M. E. Nickerson, and when visited at close of summer term gave evidence of thorough drill and good order. The committee visited it at various times during the winter session, but failed to see wherein she was less industrious and energetic than in the previous term, although some dissatisfaction had been manifested by some of the parents. None of the complainants, however, had visited the school, either to advise, admonish, or encourage. Most of the scholars were studious and well-behaved. A few were sadly deficient in what constitutes a model scholar.

DISTRICT NO. 2.

Miss Fannie Stevens, teacher, both terms. Good improvement was made, showing that both the teacher and those taught were true to their duties.

DISTRICT NO. 3.

Miss Carrie Flint, teacher, both terms. Miss Flint has fully sustained her former good reputation as a teacher. The most of the scholars in this school have manifested a lively interest in their studies, and have made very good progress.

DISTRICT NO. 4.

Summer term was taught by Miss Katherine M. Bliss ; winter term taught by Miss S. Lillian Derby. A commendable interest was manifested by both of the teachers, and the same might be said of most of the scholars. Some few of the larger boys failed to make the progress in their studies that they should and would have made if they had been more studious and less playful.

DISTRICT NO. 6.

Herbert B. Converse, teacher. This school has been in successful operation since the completion of the school-house the first week of January, and will continue some weeks longer. It is a good school. "Come and see."

DISTRICT NO. 7.

Miss Emma M. Barnes teacher for the entire school year. A good school though small. Miss Barnes succeeds in an admirable manner in securing the good-will of her pupils.

DISTRICT NO. 8.

Summer term taught by Mrs. C. L. Davis, a teacher of experience. The school appeared studious and orderly.

Winter term, Mary G. Riley, teacher. It is the verdict of those most interested that the scholars (we might appropriately say young gentlemen and ladies) of Pond district have had an exceedingly thorough and successful instructor, and the scholars reflected credit on themselves and their teacher by their almost perfect recitations. The teacher's wish seemed to be the only rule required.

DISTRICT NO. 9.

Summer and winter terms taught by Etta W. Converse, who has taught here several terms, which is virtually saying satisfaction is given. Good progress made.

DISTRICT NO. 10.

School still in session. There was no summer term. Fall and winter term to continue one week longer, making sixteen weeks. Minnie Kinsman, teacher. The scholars in this school aim to do right, and with an able and conscientious teacher like Miss Kinsman, in a district like this, where parents and scholars all unite to make a school successful, there can be but one result—a pleasant, profitable school.

DISTRICT NO. 11.

Summer term taught by Miss Myra E. Bliss. This was her first school. A good degree of interest was manifested both by teacher and scholars, and fair progress was made.

The fall term was taught by Miss S. Lillian Derby, who showed much patience and perseverance with her scholars, and fair progress was made.

DISTRICT NO. 12.

Miss A. A. Winslow teacher of summer term. Winter term taught by Miss R. L. Townsend. Both terms of this school were taught by good, experienced teachers. With teachers, scholars, and parents all striving together to promote harmony and good-will, the scholars of course made great progress, and all parties were perfectly satisfied. Miss Townsend closed her school prematurely by a few days on account of sickness.

DISTRICT NO. 13.

Miss M. J. Hurlbutt of Hanover was the teacher of both terms. Miss Hurlbutt has the faculty of so interesting her scholars in their studies that they rather study than play, and, as in school No. 12, teacher, scholars, and parents all worked together in seeking to promote the best interests of the school, therefore it is needless to add that the school was eminently successful.

In addition to the schools already reported a term of six weeks was taught in the fall in No. 7, by Emma M. Barnes, with her usual good success. The “unexpended” money due this district under the old system was appropriated in this manner by the school board.

A FEW GENERAL SUGGESTIONS.

One very important lesson should be impressed upon our boys and girls—the necessity of punctuality. The boy who is just a little behind time at school will be behind time when he gets into business. Some of the registers show a goodly number of the names of parents and guardians on the “visitors’” page, while others exhibit a deplorable lack in that respect. The school-houses, as a rule, are in fair condition. Some of them are very good. A few show deeply marked evidence of hard usage. We believe teachers and parents should hold the scholars to a rigid accountability for any injury or defacement to the house or surroundings.
